CWA Day

We had a fabulous day last week down at the Ilford Hall enjoying the company of the CWA ladies and families that came along. Everyone enjoyed the student performances which were fantastic. Not only are we really proud of our students for their efforts with colouring and producing posters and performing, but they all behaved excellently and did our school proud. Well done all and thank you to Mrs Le Poidevin and Mrs Lodewijks for all of their efforts to ensure the performances went well.

Escaping Into the Dark

The three friends all crept down the alleyway and gasped, froze and stopped dead still.

Kasey seized her friends and sprinted past the criminal. And then he followed, yelling after the three.

“Get back here right now you kids!” he hollered.

Kasey spotted a door. She had to do it- it was the only way they could escape from him.

“Come on, guys!” whispered Kasey swiftly.

“We can go through that door there!”

But it was too late. - By Gina

The Ancient Book

The ancient book had a curse on it an evil one, and it is completely mad. It haunts and walks the shadows of the wall. And here it sat, staring at me. I was terrified.

3-6 CWA Day Recounts

Mongolia Posters

On the 16th of June, Ilford Public School attended the CWA international day. This year's country was Mongolia. As always, the 3-6 class made posters about Mongolia. It took them a few days to make, and the end result was wonderful. On the day, the posters were hung up on the wall and judged. At the end of the day, the winners were revealed. The 3-4's created convincing travel posters. The winner for year 3 was MacAlister and the year 4 winner was Jenna. The year 5-6's created informative posters. The winner for year 5 was Jett and the winner for year 6 was Gina. Overall it was a pretty good day.

Recount by Finn and Jett THE COOL BRACELETS

On 16/6/16 or yesterday for us Ilford School went to the CWA which was held at the Ilford hall.

The theme of the Ilford CWA was Mongolia. The kids made posters and created little plays. The CWA ladies were kind and so they gave us some bracelets to keep which were free. The bracelets had black and white beads and a cool rock sort of thing with a confusing pattern and colourful string coming out of it on some of them. Some of the bracelets had different coloured beads like blue, green, and brown and different coloured string as well. At the end of it all the kids were congratulated with an award and walked back to school.

Happy Birthday Bonny

CWA Mongolian food

On Thursday the 16th, Ilford public school walked down to the Ilford hall for the CWA, which stands for Country Women's Association.

When we got there we sat down at our tables with some of our friend or even some of the ladies from the CWA.

Two of the CWA ladies stood out the front and explained where the exits and the toilets are.

When they finished talking Mr Stewart pointed at table to say that we could go and get some food that the CWA ladies prepared. The main was a lamb stew, rice, peas, baked carrot, potato, onion, sweet potato and buttered bread.

For dessert we had pikelets with sticky honey on top and if some of the rice bake and creamed rice was still left from the adult we could go back and get another pikelet with honey, some rice bake and some creamed rice.

'It was delicious food that they made and I enjoyed my time there experiencing new food and looking at the posters' - Bianca

The playful younglings all howled to the round and bright yellow moon or at least sat up properly.

Miranda took the ivory brown wolf cub and ruffled the top of the head.

And there he stayed, dreaming happiness.

The Secret Cave

The older kids took what they needed and rowed, paddled or at least swam. Julian found his secret cave and showed the others. And there they slept, dreaming of their adventures once more.

Their dog was the first to wake. 'Wake up guys it's already the beginning of a beautiful day' said George. Anne swung her arms open wide. She couldn't help feeling that today was going to be great once again. 'Don't worry Julian'. Said George. 'Timmy will soon not be so annoying'. And she was right.

Jett

The old book always sat in shallow silence and listened, looked and at most waited. The book felt the dust and wimped to its lonely self. And there it cried ever hoping to be found.

It Takes A Young Whale To Keep Me Alive

The young whales moaned, howled or at least groaned. Arctica snatched her land book and snuck up to the ice land. And there she watched, staring at a golden haired creature.

Arctica's mother was not amused. "What a whale to treat yourself to a woman?" Arctica started to sob. She had never seen her – the golden haired young woman was so beautiful. "Don't worry, Mrs Whale," Sploshette called. "Confusing Arctica will forget her entirely."

So Arctica never did. - Amelia
